

Accessibility

In order to make this website as user-friendly as possible for people with disabilities, we have taken the following aspects of the site into account:

Language

The site has been written using plain, simple language and we have avoided unnecessary use of jargon and abbreviations.

Website navigation

- The website uses a clear and consistent menu structure which enables you to move around the site quickly and easily.
- Links in the main text are clearly defined with an underline.

Type size and style

- The style and size of fonts have been carefully chosen for easy reading.
- Text can be resized using your standard browser controls.

Colours

- The colour palette has been chosen to provide contrast between text and background colours.
- Text is displayed on a plain background to ensure easy readability.

Graphics

To help people using screen readers, alternative text has been added to all pictures, buttons and logos.

Feedback

If there is any aspect of this site which you feel does not meet your accessibility requirements, please contact us. We always take customer comments seriously.